WOMEN'S BASKETBALL NO PRIORITY NO LABELS

Rate your overall experience as a member of the Texas Tech University Women's Basketball program.

Absolutely adore this team. Think it's a special group, but how miserable the practices were made it very hard to want to show up everyday or work hard for your coaches. Coaches did not believe in you, they used fear to motivate you.

Rate your overall experience with the coaching staff.

Crazy inconsistent. You would walk into practice and know if they were going to praise you or curse you out. There was no way to master the situation because it did not matter what you did, they would have their own reactions. Majority of the time they would yell at you without explaining what you did wrong, not allow you to ask questions, but instead would send you to the side to run. People were terrified to mess up and once you were a target (w) was game over. You could not dig yourself out of that hole because they were unfair.

I love Texas tech. They do a great job offering so many resources for the students and all the professors I've had have offered great support with our crazy schedule.

Adding TYLER as a resource was HUGE. I know majority of our team this year used him as a resource. I definitely did and he helped my mental game tremendously. He has a great plan to help student athletes in every way. Felt very supported in that area.

New nutrition center is unbelievable. Mandatory breakfast was not popular within our team. Majority of people didn't eat it and it became an annoyance especially throughout conference play when we lived at the arena.

Brenna is a freaking rockstar. She has been the glue of this team. She advocates on our behalf and takes care of us, while also pushing us in a really healthy way. Can't say enough great things about her.

Raigh... good strength & conditioning coach... did not know boundaries or what was appropriate to say or do to players within the program. Made all of us very on edge.

Rate your overall experience with coaches maintaining weekly schedules.

They would randomly throw events on us at the last minute that was very annoying especially because we would have homework or plans, but overall it was somewhat consistent.

Rate your overall experience with coaches providing adequate notice of changes to practice dates and/or times.

Like I said, they did not do a good job communicating with us about change of plans. I could not plan anything 11 months out of the year because it was all subject to change. Super annoying when they would change weekend plans.

Do you feel supported by your coaches during this time of response to COVID-19?

Hahahahaha no, they barely communicate with us unless they have to.

How do you feel the athletic department handled the initial COVID-19 response?

Best they could. I know there are a lot of unknowns...not as much expectation from the athletic department, but a higher one for our coaches.

Is there any additional information you'd like to provide about your student-athlete experience?

I love Texas Tech, but it's hard to play for a program that you feel like you're lying to recruits when they come into town.

Is there anything else that you would like to share with your administrator that could improve your athletic and academic time management?

No, I've always thought time management was kind of on yourself to handle.

Are there any areas related to your overall health and well-being that could be enhanced?

There needs to be more safe places within women's basketball. There is not one person on the roster that feels comfortable going up to our coaches offices and that's very said to me.

My student-athlete experience was not something I had anticipated, in a very negative way. I did not feel comfortable playing for coach Marlene Stollings, Coach Nikita Dawkins, or the strength coach Ralph Petrella.

Are there any pervasive compliance or societal issues (gambling, hazing, drugs, alcohol, discrimination, Title IX/harassment or violence) that your department should be aware of?

The strength and conditioning coach Ralph Petrella sexually harassed my teammate [REDACTED] and constantly made verbalized threats of bodily harm to me all season long. When I brought this up to Head Coach Marlene Stollings at the end of the year after finally having enough, she said she didn't believe me.

The women's program is a toxic environment filled with coaches who would rather tear you down than build you up.

Firing the coach at the beginning of conference was a decision I will never understand and it caused a lot of issues. I hope this will never happen again or even be considered as an option without a scandal or rule break.
